

The U.S. News and World Report say the University of Louisville's Louis D. Brandeis School of Law offers the best education for the least amount money. Dean of the U of L Law School, Susan Duncan says this is old news for the school:

{audio}http://wcluradio.com/newscuts/0604Duncan1.mp3{/audio}

U.S. News and World Report determined the rankings by dividing the dollar amount spent per student in 2012 by the school's best school ranking in 2014. Despite the good ranking, Duncan says the U of L's focus remains its students:

{audio}http://wcluradio.com/newscuts/0604Duncan2.mp3{/audio}

U of L Law School is ranked number 68 on the US News and World Report. The school spent $658 per student for each point on the best schools ranking.