

Last Saturday was the first annual Barren County Ag Festival, a celebration of the booming farm and livestock industries in the area. The Festival was held at Barren County High School and included a wealth of food, games and educational booths.

Whether you couldn't make it or you would like to relive the events again, WCLU has you covered. This week, we're bringing some of the interesting stories from the Festival. Here is intern JR Mahung with part two of our four part series:
