

July and August are typically the hottest months of the year, and a child advocate at Kosair Childrens Hospital is reminding parents that when kids are left alone in vehicles during these summer months, a tragedy may follow. More on the story from Richard Farmer..

{audio}http://wcluradio.com/newscuts/0717hot.mp3{/audio}