

Bobby Petrino can't wait for the first day of his second chance Western Kentucky has given him. Petrino will begin a new chapter of his coaching career when he opens practice Monday with the Hilltoppers. Fired by Arkansas last year for an off-field incident, he found another opportunity with WKU last December and is eager to pick up on the field where he left off after a year away from football.