

Kentucky Attorney General Jack Conway visited Barren County High School yesterday to present his 'Keep Kentucky Kids Safe Program'. This program shares the dangers of the abuse of prescription medications with students across the state. Conway is passionate about this issue as he told the students:

{audio}http://wcluradio.com/newscuts/103113conway1.mp3{/audio}

Jeff Scruggs, with the Barren/Edmonson/Allen County Drug Task Force, also took part in the presentation. Scruggs shared that Xanax abuse was rampant in our area and is one of the most dangerous drugs out there:

{audio}http://wcluradio.com/newscuts/103113scruggs.mp3{/audio}

WCLU News asked Conway why he has felt drawn to this particular issue:

{audio}http://wcluradio.com/newscuts/103013conway.mp3{/audio}