

Western Kentucky University forensics team was crowned team sweepstakes champion at the 66th Annual L.E. Norton Memorial Tournament, the largest of the fall semester.

The event, hosted by Bradley University, is one of the oldest forensics tournaments still in existence and has historically served as a predictor of success at April's national tournament.

The team is splitting up for next weekend as one group of students will travel to Carson-Newman College in Tennessee, while another travels to Bowling Green State University in Bowling Green, Ohio.
