West Central Kentucky gas prices rose two cents to $3.24 a gallon this week, according to AAA East Central.

Today's national average price at the pump is $3.28 per gallon. This is the same price as last week, three cents less than one month ago and seven cents less than the same date last year.

Crude oil prices have been relatively flat to begin in the year, and as a result gasoline prices have been largely left to take direction from regional and local factors.

Locally
Bowling Green is at $3.30 per gallon and Elizabethtown
is at $3.27.
