

As a part of the Glasgow Musciale's celebration of "Black History Month", here is Sam Terry to tell us about an exciting event coming us this Sunday:

The Liberty District Mass Choir is comprised of members from 23 different churches, including Barren and surrounding counties. Sunday's concert will be a journey through time as they begin with African American music from 100-200 years ago and move through today, as they show the influence it has had on American music. Terry says Sunday will be a 'lively' show:
