

Kentucky Living Magazine's latest issue includes it's 2014 Kentucky's Best winners.

This contest is voted on by readers and you may have noticed a local name among the winners this year. Big Moose's BBQ Smokehouse won 3rd place in Best Non Franchise

BBQ in Kentucky. Owners William Head and his wife Sandra, say they were very honored and surprised when they won because they weren't aware they'd even been nominated.

They say that consistency is their key to success-if they wouldn't eat it themselves, they wouldn't serve it.

All BBQ is cooked on site, either on the grill up front or the large smoker out back and covered in their own special blend of seasonings.

On average Big Moose's BBQ Smokehouse serves 2500 meals per week including burgers, brisket, shoulder, pulled pork and chicken-all served with their signature
