Buford Wood has a badge as large as a dishpan attesting to the fact that he is a highway patrolman. All road appointees holding major positions are so designated as patrolmen. But, unfortunately, with no pay in it.

Henry Davis, near town on the Bowling Green grade, this season sold 500 gallons of green beans from his four-acre tract. In addition, Mrs. Davis canned 136 quarts of beans from the same lot. The beans averaged 17 cents per gallon. Can you beat this record?

A study center for Glasgow and this community has become an established fact. Meetings will be held each Saturday at the High School building under the direction of Dr. W. M. Willey of the Western Kentucky State Teachers College. A class in senior English, under the teaching of Dr. Earl Moore, will be organized around September 1. Cost per semester hour, $3.50.

The new band stand building over the pump house in the Glasgow courthouse yard is nearing completion. This will be not only an addition to the looks of the yard, but will add much to the comfort and convenience of the band. The public well will be re-worked also and much needed improvements will be made.

The Times reporter called in the Shoe Shop on the north side of the Square and was surprised to find a completely equipped shoe service shop with all modern machinery of the latest type. The manager, Mr. Stovall, can make an old pair of shoes look like new, put in new insoles, counters, and welts, and dye them any color, and when they leave the shop, look like new ones, yet retain the comfort of the old ones. The work is of high quality and the price is as low as can be obtained elsewhere. He also carries a line of factory return shoes at low prices.
