300 Ate Fish and Corn Pones Tonight. If you happened uptown tonight, you could not help noticing the "scarcity" of folks. Well, those who are not in the Army had evidently moved to the Fish Hatchery where President Clifton Richards was holding forth with the Chamber of Commerce Fish Fry and Picnic, which was designed to further unite Glasgow's business and professional interests toward a Greater and More Useful Glasgow. 300 supperless individuals were "suppered" by a super cook force headed by Gordon Brown; 386 large portions of white perch were fixed-fit-for-a-king, along with 600 corn dodgers and a lot of extras. President Richards urged the members and their families to eat hearty and work heartier for a greater Glasgow.
